SUPPLY CHAIN

An unbroken chain of needed supplies is crucial to any successful military campaign. Those who have studied the matter tell us that, without necessary food and clothing, advanced training and weaponry have limited effect.

We listen with interest to those working diligently to supply the needs of those serving on the front lines in our battle against the Coronavirus. "Stockpiles" and "air bridges" are frequently used terms in our descriptions of what we are doing to get much-needed supplies to those who need them most.

In Christ, we have calm assurance that we will be able to "fight the good fight" and gain the victory that is promised to those who stand with Jesus (1 Tim. 1:18; Rev. 17:14; 1 Jn. 5:4). What we have in Christ is an abundant source of blessing to meet every physical, emotional and spiritual need. When we grow discouraged, God provides strength (1 Pet. 4:11; Eph. 6:10). When we are tempted, He provides the way of escape (1 Cor. 10:13). When fear rises from within, His loving comfort provides peace (2 Cor. 1:3-5; 1 Pet. 5:6-7).

God's supply has no deficit so far as supplying us with what we need to carry out His will. Although Paul learned contentment (Ph. 4:11), he freely confessed that "God is able to make all grace abound...so that always having all sufficiency in everything," we might "have an abundance for every good deed" (2 Cor. 9:8). He responds in a similar way to the generosity of the Philippian brethren, saying, "And my God will supply all your needs according to His riches in glory in Christ Jesus" (Ph. 4:19).

God often uses His people as instruments through whom He meets the needs of others. This is our special blessing from God—that, as we meet the needs of others, He provides for our own needs. Jesus says, "Seek first His kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things will be added to you" (Mt. 6:33). In all that we do for others, we seek a corresponding overflow of thanksgivings to God (2 Cor. 9:12). Let us, therefore, "draw near with confidence to the throne of grace, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help in time of need" (Hb. 4:16).

A Friend in Need

Our friends are important to us. Depending on the strength of the friendship, we probably check in on each other every couple of days or maybe every day. It's wonderful to have friends to talk to, but especially ones that make an effort to encourage us. How often do we return the favor back to them? It's so easy to take kindness and love for granted; we accept it and do not think sometimes to give it back in return. I remember back in the Garden of Gethsemane in Matthew 26:36-46, Jesus has taken Peter, James, and John with Him farther into the garden than any of the other apostles. Jesus turned sorrowful because He had started thinking about the hour that was coming and began to pray about it. When Jesus came back to Peter, James, and John they were asleep. He asked Peter why he couldn't stay up with Him and then proceeds to tell him to pray and that the spirit is willing but the flesh is weak. This goes on three times. Jesus, in this time of sorrow before the cross, needed His friends. Out of the twelve, He picked these three to go in farther with Him, and they could not stay up with Him. All He asked of them was to pray and stay awake with Him, and they could not do that. Jesus had done so much for these three and this one time that Jesus asks them to do this simple thing, they don't do it. Jesus was a friend in need, and His closest friends failed to comfort Him in this time. Are we failing our own friends who need our help; ones who maybe just need a few minutes of our time? It makes all the difference when we show we care. Let's show that we care.
