COURAGE TO DO RIGHT

Courage is the antidote to uncertainty, fear, and anxiety—a few of the strikingly powerful human emotions that can rob us of abundant joy and purposeful direction (Jn. 10:10). In trying times, we must first be committed to do the right thing. The courageous aspect of this commitment is evidenced by Peter and the apostles as they faced the intimidating threats of the Jewish Council and said, “We must obey God rather than men” (Acts 5:29).

Again, when Peter exhorted Christian wives to be submissive to their husbands in a godly and gentle manner, he cited the example of Sarah, who obeyed her husband, calling him lord. Then, he goes on to explain how they could share in her likeness by doing right “without being frightened by any fear” (1 Pet. 3:1-6).

Later in the same chapter, Peter widens his scope to all who might “suffer for the sake of righteousness”, saying, “do not fear their intimidation, and do not be troubled, but sanctify Christ as Lord in your hearts, always being ready to make a defense to everyone who asks you to give an account for the hope that is in you, yet with gentleness and reverence...” (vss. 14-15).

It's amazing how someone who denied the Lord three times in rapid succession should have so much to say on the subject of courage! (Mt. 26:69-75). Clearly, there is a remarkable difference between the man who denied the Lord in His hour of crisis and the man who boldly spoke out for God in the face of great opposition.

Courage evaporates in the presence of discouragement. Even then, we must focus on doing the right thing, trusting God to work things out according to His purpose (Rm. 8:28). We must follow the example of David who, in spite of unbelievably discouraging circumstances, found a way to encourage himself in the Lord (1 Sam. 30:6). Communing with God in prayer and study is essential along with finding creative ways to “encourage one another” (Hb. 3:13).

The Potter and the Clay

The work of a potter is to form or mold things from clay. Whether they are forming vases or just a clay pot, it requires excellent craftsmanship on their part for it to come out properly. It takes hours, sometimes days for a project they are working on to be completed to their standards. Jesus gave us His word to be the potter in our lives. He molds us and forms us when we adhere to His word and what He desires for us to be doing. Isaiah 64:8 says, “But now, O Lord, You are our Father, we are the clay and You our potter; And all of us are the work of Your hand.” We are to be the work of His hand. The extension of His work which He started when He was here on earth fulfilling the prophecies laid out in the Old Testament. He died so that we may live. We live so that we can continue telling people about Him and the gift which He grants to those who follow Him. Are we letting Jesus be the Potter in our lives? Is it through Him or by Him that we are being molded and fashioned for eternity? He made such a perfect blueprint for our lives that eternity is possible. While it may not be in that physical mold, the spiritual mold has everything to offer. Molding our spiritual lives after Jesus is the only way to work toward His likeness.
