LOVING OTHERS

It is more accurate to say that we are responsible to others rather than for others. Understanding the difference can make a dramatic impact in our lives. How many of us rob ourselves of joy in life because we take on excessive guilt for the bad decisions of others? But, we are not responsible for others; we are responsible to others. So, what is our responsibility to others?

We are responsible to love others. What is love? Love is the identifying mark of Christ's followers. Jesus says, "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another, even as I have loved you, that you also love one another. By this all men will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another" (Jn. 13:34-35).

What is love? It is the natural response of one who has been saved. Peter writes, "Since you in obedience to the truth purified your souls for a sincere love of the brethren, fervently love one another from the heart, for you have been born again not of seed which is perishable but imperishable, that is, through the living and abiding word of God" (1 Pet. 1:22-23). Just as we might say that an Olympic athlete is "born to run"; we might say that a Christian is "born to love." In fact, love is the proof of our relationship to God. John says, "Beloved, let us love one another, for love is from God; and everyone who loves is born of God and knows God" (1 Jn. 4:7). He goes on to say that "No one has beheld God at any time; if we love one another, God abides in us, and His love is perfected in us" (1 Jn. 4:12).

Love is also an obligation we owe to others. Paul says, "Owe nothing to anyone except to love one another; for he who loves his neighbor has fulfilled the law" (Rm. 13:8). Love is a debt always needing to be paid. When asked which was the greatest commandment, Jesus replied, "'You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind.' This is the great and foremost commandment. The second is like it, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself'" (Mt. 22:37-39).

Finally, love is active good will. It seeks what is best for the one loved. Ours is a responsibility to love others. This is not easy in a world preoccupied with looking out for number one. But, it is love which provides the foundation upon which rests every other Christian responsibility.
